THE ISLAND OF CUBA-Reported Proposals of Sale to the United States by the Spanish Government.-The following is extracted from the London Leader, of the 6th instant, an able and highly respectable journal of the liberal school:

Terms for the Sale of Cuba .- On authority believe to be quite trustworthy, we learn the terms of the negotiation now going on, in London, for the sale of Cuba to the Ame-rican Government. It is anticipated that Gen. Lopez will be repulsed; but after the Spanish government has thus cleared its honor, the island will be sold to the United States for a round sum of money. More than one douceur will be given—among others, an immense sum to the Queen-mother of Spain. But the most remarkable bonus is the allotment of half the purchase money to the English holders of Span-ish bonds.

It is said that Lord Palmerston dislikes these terms. Credat Judeus.

We do not know how far the late explosion in Guba and New York will effect this negotiation; but, according to our authority, it will make no difference—Gen. Lopez, the English bondholders, and other influential parties, having been engaged in the negotiation before the untoward event, recounted elsewhere, occurred at Havana.

The Boston Celebration.

The account of the doings, feastings, military reviews and marchings, welcome speeches and replies which took place on the occasion of the great Railroad Jubilee at Boston, on the 17th instant, has come to hand, with all the speeches made by President Fillmore, Mr. Webster, Mr. Stuart, and Mr. Conrad, on the occasion, as well as the speeches of welcome made to the President by Governors, Mayors, and other distinguished persons selected to do so.

The speeches of the President and his Cabinet Ministers are made stale by their samenes in the matter of fulsome lip-praise, and by their repetition. We have no room for them. But we have room for the neatest, most chaste, appropriate and patriotic speech which we find in the whole batch published. It is the address of his honor Mayor Bigelow, of Boston, and does high credit to his uncommon head and heart. Read it, everybody, as follows:

MAYOR BIGELOW'S ADDRESS TO THE PRESI-Sin: The people of Boston now crowd her Sin: The people of Boston now crowd her gates to receive with tokens of honor the great head of the republic, and in their name I bid you welcome to this metropolis. We regard it as a happy omen that we receive you on the spot where our fathers gathered to hail the coming of Washington, in the first year of his Presidency. The contrast exhibited between that period and this is striking and instructive. The salutations extended to the first President were the offering of only eighteen thousand inhabthe offering of only eighteen thousand inhabitants, while the welcome proffered to his successor this day is the voice of a population of one hundred and forty thousand. The ruler who was then received administered the affairs of less than four millions of people, who had lately emerged from the smoke of battle, and were but beginning, under the influences of liberty and union, to take rank among the nations of the earth. You, sir, we rec Executive Chief of a population of twenty-four millions, living in the enjoyment of an amount of prosperity and happiness almost unparalleled in the history of the world. By a remarkable coincidence, which doubtless has occurred to yourself, you visit us on the anniversary of the completion of the Federal Constitution. It is a day peculiarly fitting for the reception of him whose authority as the Federal Chief Magistrate is derived from that great compact. The day has also a special in-terest for this city, for it is the anniversary of its settlement. While the occasion thus calls to mind the Philadelphia conclave, and the Piltions the happily blended influences of the puritan and the patriot.

You have recently, sir, visited Virginia, and names of those States recall the story of the Revolution, and the noble part sustained by each in that drama. Your reception in the Old Dominion indicates her fealty to the Union, and her attachment to the principles of other times. This day will furnish evidence of the regard of the Bay State, also, for that Union and those principles, by the manner in which her people will testify their respect for the faithful administrator of the Constitution and the Laws.

It has been the custom of war, sir, for the inhabitants of captured cities to bring forth the keys and lay them at the victor's feet. A offering is tendered to you than was ever surrendered to the conqueror: The hearts of our people are here to greet you with grateful and affectionate salutations, and bid you welcome to our homes.

Hogarth the Artist, and Latham the

We believe in luck, and especially in Latham's uck. Fortune never showers her gifts but the choicest fall on Latham. He was born to good luck, and has never disposed of his birthright. We have to-day seen a WALKING-STICK, cut from the old iron-braced mulberry tree at the Hogarth House, Chiswick, England, and sent as a present to "R. W. LATHAM, esq., the liberal and successful Banker of Washington,' whose fame, we are proud to know, has reached the opposite shores of the broad Atlantic.

The mansion in which the immortal HOGARTH lived and died is at the ancient town of Chiswick, on the Thames, about six miles west of the Crystal Palace. It was formerly the residence of Sir James Thornhill, with whose daughter Hogarth fell in love; and it was from the window shaded by the boughs of this glorious old tree that "the great painter of mankind" stole his future wife!

Hogarth's subsequent fame induced Sir James to invite the young couple to the homestead, and it became their home until they saw "the last of earth." Under the venerable branches of this gigantic mulberry it was Hogarth's wont to imbibe his beer and inspiration, and amuse himself with his faithful dog Pompey, and bird Dick. Here, too, Hogarth reached the noblest point of art, and conceived those moral pictures hich charm the mind, and through the eve

We admire this present. No man deserve these tokens of appreciation more than Mr. LATHAM; for who is blessed with a kinder generosity more active, or whose every-more practically illustrates the sublime idea of doing "the greatest good to the greatest EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN NEW YORK,-The aniual Convention of the Diocese of New York will be held on Wednesday next, in St. John's church, in the city of New York. The election of a Bishop, we are informed by the papers of that city, will be the chief topic of interest. Last year, it will be recollected, there was a division between the clergy and the laity-the former being in favor of Dr. Seabury, the latter of Dr. Williams. The friends of Dr. Onderdonk, comprising a majority of the clergy, cast their votes for Dr. Seabury—the opponents of the ex-Bishop, mainly of the laity, voted for Dr. Williams. It being necessary that both branches should agree upon one candidate, there was no election. Since that time Dr. Williams has been chosen Assistant Bishop of Connecticut, and of course cannot be a candidate. His party of last year, it is said, have resolved to nominate Dr. Kip, of Albany. Another prominent member of the New York city clergy, Dr. Whitehouse, has been elected Assistant Bishop of Illinois, the venerable Bishop Chase having become so infirm as to be unable to fulfil his office.

The steamer Washington, from Southimpton for New York, was to depart on the 10th. In our next we shall probably be able to give her news, four days later than that of the Europa.

CRIME VS. EDUCATION .- The whole number of persons convicted of crime in the State of New York, from 1840 to 1848, inclusive, was 27,949. Of these 1,182 were returned as having received a common education; 441 as having a tolerably good education, and 128 only as well educated. Of the remaining 26,225, about one-half were able merely to read and write; the residue were destitute of any education whatever.

THE RICHMOND DAILY DISPATOR .- This little one-center is published by James A. Cowardin, and edited by Hugh R. Pleasants. It says of itself that it is "nearly a year old, and a more healthy and thrifty yearling we know not of. It is very surprising to some people that it has lived so long. As popular as it is, it is growing in popular favor daily. 'Young Richmond' has taken to the Dispatch-your go-ahead enterprising men nearly all seek its columns to advance their interests. They know a thing or two." We trust that all the laggards may yet have their eyes opened to the wisdom of cheering it on to the highest point of success.

DEATH OF A MISSIONARY.-The New York Tribune announces the death of the Rev. WM. T. BIDDLE, which occurred in that city on Wednesday, at the house of Rev. John Dowling, D. D., where he was awaiting his departure for Burmah in a few weeks. Mr. Biddle was a young man of great promise, of whom high opes had been formed; his personal worth was not inferior to that unassuming merit which made him a bright example of unobtrusive but efficient usefulness. Circumstances of a peculiar and affecting nature make his death an ccurrence of unusual interest to the public. Five weeks previous to his death he was ordained, the day following he was married, three weeks ago he graduated with honor at Hamilton, and in a short time was expected to leave his native land for his field of labor as a missionary in Burmah. His labors are ended here. On Friday last he was attacked with a complaint in the throat, which assumed a malignant type on Tuesday, and he closed his eyes in peace and hope on Wednesday morning.

MURDER OF A YOUNG LADY .- The Warsaw (III.) Journal relates a case of aggravated murler in McDonough county, a few days since. He went to her residence to effect a reconciliation, but was unsuccessful. grim colony, I trust that you will recognise in the character of our people and their institu- was pursued to within six miles of Warsaw, but State's attorney, and IMPROBABLE.—The editor of a Western paper says that he has three times put on a clean shirt for the purpose of calling on the Governor of his State, but did not see him. No Western Governor expects such etiquette-no Western editor practises it-and it is the custom for Governors to wait on editors, and court their favor. The story has no probability in it.

N. P. WILLIS .- This gentleman, whose family have been passing the summer in New Bedford, has been confined to his bed for two or three weeks, with a severe attack of pleurisy.

ANNEXATION OF THE SANDWICH ISLANDS TO THE UNITED STATES .- Rev. J. C. Holbrook, one of the correspondents of the Independent, in a letter to that journal upon the Home Missionary prospects in the West, makes the following remarks: "Even the foreign missionary field at the Sandwich Islands may become home missionary ground, should our Government accede to the proposition now before it for the annexation of those islands. A friend of mine, the United States Consul for Hawaii, I learn by a letter just received, is now in this country, the bearer of such a proposition."

lishes the following letter from the Rev. Mr. Gorsuch to Gov. Johnston, in which he replies to the letter of the Governor:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18, 1851. Washington, Sept. 18, 1851.

Hon. Wm. F. Johnston, Governo of Pennsylvania.

The undersigned, a son of the late Edward Gorsuch, the victim of abolitionist enthusiasm and high-handed rebellion, is sorry that so painful a duty is imposed upon him as that to which he now addresses himself. He writes to you, sir, with no vindictive feelings, but only to assure you, what he desires every one to know, that he thinks the lack of official promptness on your part has resulted in the escape, hitherto, of the slaves, and some of the principal murderers of his father. It would have tended in some degree to relieve the anxiety of tended in some degree to relieve the anxiety of the family and friends of the deceased, to have known that the Governor of the State in which this foul murder was committed had acted as promptly and efficiently as the circumstances

I know that you passed within a few yards of here the body of my father lay, the afternoon of the same day on which he was murdered. The cars stopped at the door of the house. Some of the passengers went in to look at the ghastly spectacle. But, sir, you did not. You who ought because of your responsible station to have been most interested, showed the least concern. And this is not to be wondered at. It would seem natural that then you should have been rejoicing at this, the first fruits of your official and personal hostility to the rendition of fugitive slaves. Did we not well know what you have done to render inoperative the law under whose protection my father entered your State to secure his property, in a manner strictly legal, some excuse might be found in our minds for your strange inactivity. But we knew your course. We had watched it with pain, and we did not expect you would be induced to change it even at this extraordinary Allow me to call your attention to a fact which, perhaps, you will remember. Those slaves, for whom my father was searching, were to be free at the age of twenty-eight. They were detected in selling stolen wheat to a negro. Before the writ which was gotten out against him could be served he escaped to Pennsylvania. This brother of mine, now so near to death, was sent to you with a requisi-tion from the Governor of Maryland for that free negro, "Abe Johnson." But you would not deliver him up, and sent my brother home, convinced that further effort in that respect was unnecessary. That "Abe Johnson," it is said, was present among the rebels on last Thursday morning.

I have read some letters which you wrote to some gentlemen of Philadelphia, who were urging you to action. I marked the strong contrast between your words and actions. Now, sir, if you were so anxious to vindicate the honor of your State—so proud to have these offenders arrested, why did you not imitate the noble example of the Executive of the United States? Why did you not issue your proclama-tion as soon as you reached Philadelphia? If it ought to have been done at all, were there not stronger reasons to have it done on the first day, when the murderers were at hand, than on the fifth, when most of them had escaped? You cannot plead ignorance of the riot, for it was well known to you. You will not pretend to say that it was more necessary when several prominent actors in that tragedy were arrested, and the whole neighborhood scoured by vigorous young gentlemen from Maryland, by a host of your own citizens and United States military, than when every one that desired the punishment of these murderers and traitors was afraid to move; when the rioters— still wet with the blood of innocent and peaceable men—were triumphing in their victory, and their confederates congratulating themselves upon successful treason! Why, sir, did you not show your promptness then? You applaud the decision, energy, and promptness of the Lancaster county officers, and in this I most heartily concur; but in proportion as you praise them you condemn yourself. You knew of the insurectionary movement before they did. If they had waited, as you did, until the fifth day, to do what ought to have been done on the first, you could not have applauded them. You must, therefore, sir, be self-condemned.

Do you know that thirty-six hours passed before one writ was taken out against these men? Do you know that Mr. Thompson, the cises of the fourth quarterly meeting for this church will commence on to-morrow, (Sabbath.) The Rev. J. II. Davis, presiding elder, will preach at 11 o'clock, a. m.; and their own lives and to quell the spirit of resistance which fortified the traitors and terrified the loyal, had to collect a posse of men from orks and diggings on the railroad? you know that not a magistrate or constable would act until compelled; that the sheriff refused to act; that your attorney general, true to his superior, would not aid these men whose activity you now so zealously commend? With these facts, sir, before us, we cannot be charged with calumny in saying, that we do honestly believe that your proclamation would never have seen the light, had you not feared that the activity of others would censure your own indifference.

We believe that the majority of Pennsylvanians are right. We have been pleased at the zeal, and gratified with the sympathies of many we have met. But, sir, if the laws shall now be sustained; if the country shall be satisfied that Pennsylvania is right; if the South is to sured that not one particle of the honor will be given to the Governor. We will not say that he has acted traitorously; that by his previous course he has been the indirect occasion of this outrage; that the blood of Edward Gorsuch is on his skirts; but we must say that he has not been "clear in his great office," but recreant to the trust imposed in him.

Much more in sorrow than in anger, I subscribe myself your much injured friend, J. S. Gorsuch.

A DIVORCE CASE IN CONNECTICUT .- Mr. Chancellor S. Barber petitioned the Superior Court of New London county, Conn., at the August term, for divorce from his wife, Phœbe A., on the ground that she is guilty of habitual intemperance and the excessive use of morphine, which, under the Connecticut statute of 1849. furnish good cause of divorce. Judge Church has denied the petition, for the reason that the practices complained of were encouraged by the himself, and the result of his own ault and negligence.

Departed this life on the 3d instant, at Providence, Virginia, of dropsy of the chest, Mrs. ANNE P. ROWAN, relict of the late Rev. Joseph Rowan, and sister-in-law of Mr. R. Orme, of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Washington. Of this estimable lady it may be said she died as she fired, trusting in "Him who is mighty to save." A use-ful member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, she was ever a strict attendant upon its different requirements. In the class and prayer meetings, and in the Sabbath school, she was a valuable assistant, and her loss will be left in these departments of the Church most sensibly. Kind and affable in her disposition, noble and generous in her feelings, and sincere in her attachments, she attracted friendship and won the regard of all who knew her. She "feared not death;" and let her bereaved relatives comfort their sorrow with the assurance that she has exchanged the griefs and pain of earth for that repose "which remains for the people of God."
